Here's a link to a Saddleback video of the lesson. Even though it's a cartoon, it's fun for older kids as well.

The lesson may also be read in a Children's Bible or regular bible.

Following each story, families share in a 'wondering' session, reflecting on how different people, feelings and issues in the story raised feelings or thoughts in their own minds. Suggested open ended questions based on Godly Play are listed below. And remember, there are no right or wrong answers.

- I wonder which part of the story you liked best? Least?
- I wonder if there's something that surprised or puzzled you in this story?
- I wonder if there's a character in the story you find interesting?
- I wonder which part of the story is the most important?
- I wonder what we learn about God in this story?
- I wonder which part of the story is about you?
- I wonder what God 's trying to tell or teach us in this story?
- Is there something you wonder about?

- I wonder which part of the story might be a big point to remember?

Peace be with you!
