Five Additional Surprises

On Easter Sunday, I preached a sermon on five surprises that appeared in our second reading for the day, 1 Corinthians 15:1-11. In keeping with my Easter message, I would like to offer five more, all in the hope of (re)kindling your interest in reading Scripture.

Here they are:

1. The cross without the resurrection means nothing: 1 Corinthians 15:17. Many Christians focus exclusively on the cross as the locus of salvation. Jesus saves us by dying for our sins. Paul, however, suggests otherwise. He writes, "If Christ has not been raised, your faith is futile and you are still in your sins." Why? Presumably because Paul sees the cross and resurrection as inseparable; Jesus not only conquers the power of sin but also death (see Rom. 5:12).
2. Only the resurrection matters: Romans 10:9. Here Paul goes beyond his comment in 1 Corinthians by omitting any reference to the cross whatsoever: "if you confess with your lips that Jesus is Lord and believe in your heart that God raised him from the dead, you will be saved" (see also 1 Tim. 1:9-10). If only the resurrection matters, why do people fix their gaze on the timbers of a cross?
3. God cannot do all things: Judges 1:19. Judges opens with a story about God working alongside the Israelites in battle: "the Lord was with Judah, and he took possession of the hill country, but could not drive out the inhabitants of the plain, because they had chariots of iron." Does God lack omnipotence? If so, how might God's powerlessness challenge your assumptions about God (see also 1 Cor. 1:25)?
4. God exists only in relationship: 1 John 4:12. I get weary of people who talk about God and point to the sky, as if God and heaven reside somewhere "up there" beyond the clouds. 1 John offers a compelling alternative. "No one has ever seen God," the author writes, "[but] if we love on another, God lives in us, and his love is perfected in us." If you wish to find God, seek him in our neighbor. In loving others, you "make God exist," as the French philosopher Maurice Clavel said. You incarnate God, who is love (see 1 John 4:8, 16).
5. Life is short: James 4:14. I love finding poetry in Scripture, especially when it comes to our mortality. Most of us know popular verses like Isaiah 40:6, which compares human beings to withering grass. But what about James, which says, "You do not even know what tomorrow will bring. What is your life? For you are mist that appears for a little while and then vanishes"? Even as we celebrate new life this Easter season, let us also remember the fleeting gift of life we have from God, the source and ground of everything.

What passages in the Bible surprise you? I would love to hear what they are.

Pastor Dan

FROM THE CANTOR

“Alleluia, Christ is risen!” “This is the feast of victory for our God, alleluia!” “Jesus Christ is risen today, alleluia!” The “alleluias” rang loud and clear on Easter Sunday. It was, in my opinion, the most festive day of worship at Queen Anne Lutheran Church in recent memory (and, the Easter breakfast was incredible!)

Please join me in thanking all who helped elevate the “alleluias” of our music together on Easter: The QALC Choir, whose faithful service and musicianship inspire us nearly every week from September to May; Sonia Patten, who joined me for a simply gorgeous flute sonata at the 10:30 service; Deepa’s son, Neal Patten, whose clear tone and musical phrasing at the trumpet show skill beyond his years and elevated our hymns; and the group of youth, many fresh from helping with the Easter breakfast, who added a jubilant “free ring” to our Easter processional hymn (Jenna Del Vento, Elisabeth Koppelman, T. J. Koppelman, Jimmy Porter, and Phoebe Porter). Also, a big “thank you” again to Neal Patten and his sister, Sonia Patten, for offering their music as pianists for the 10:30 service prelude on March 17 and also Jenna Del Vento, who beautifully led the Psalm of the Day as vocal soloist on Palm Sunday, March 24. It’s a delight to work with QALC’s talented (and fun) young people!

Looking ahead, Queen Anne Fine Arts will be advertising several Sunday afternoon concerts soon—some details are still being finalized, so please bear with me if there are any tweaks or adjustments. But for now, please mark your calendars for:

Sunday, May 12 (Mother’s Day) at 4 p.m.

Works for violin and piano with guest artists

Pentecost Sunday, May 19 at 4 p.m.

Vespers at Pentecost with music for organ and for choir, with guest singers and the QALC Choir

Sunday, June 2 at 4 p.m.

Works for small instrumental ensemble (chamber ensemble) with guest artists

As with our recent programs, a suggested donation will be announced to support the Fine Arts Fund (with all welcome and none turned away). Again, please watch your emails and the Sunday bulletin for more details (and any updates or revisions) as the dates approach. I’m grateful for the recent surge of support for fine arts events, extending our programming from one event on Pentecost to the three events above. Plus, I’m looking forward to putting together a 2024-2025 season of fine arts programming that can be advertised well in advance to the congregation and the Seattle arts community. I’m excited for the possibilities ahead!

Back to Easter: I hope you’ll join me for the fifty days of Easter (and beyond) in remembering that Sunday is something we can revisit every day. Why? It’s all about baptism: through our baptism, we daily return to both the death of the old self and the promise of the resurrection. As Luther puts it in the Small Catechism, baptism indicates that there is a new person who daily turns away from the old self and also “should daily emerge and arise to live before God in righteousness and purity forever.” But this isn’t just Luther’s opinion, as he also immediately cites Romans 6: “We were therefore buried with [Christ] through baptism into death in order that, just as Christ was raised from the dead through the glory of the Father, we too may live a new life.” That’s something to sing “alleluia” about, indeed.

“Alleluia, Christ is risen!”

See you in church,

Kyle Haugen, Cantor

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Blessing of the Quilts and Kits, Sunday April 28

The sanctuary is festooned this day with all the quilts and kits assembled for Lutheran World Relief, and they and their makers will be blessed in worship. Please stay after the 10:30 service if you can help pack, weigh and label boxes. All the quilts and kits will be taken to the regional Ingathering on May 3 & 4 to be loaded into shipping containers and sent overseas. See page 8 to find out about opportunities to tie quilts and assemble kits this month ahead of that special day.

Project Phoenix—Mark Your Calendar

Families with middle school and high school youth can mark their calendars for the following Project Phoenix event dates, Sundays at 4 PM, with details yet to come: April 28, 4-6 PM • June 02, 4-6 PM

Rides to Church Available

Do you, or someone you know, need a ride to church? Call the church office by noon on the Thursday before to make the request. Barb will send an email out to the congregation with the subject line “RIDES REQUESTED,” including a link to the riders’ contact info in Sign-Up Genius.

Are you available to give a ride? This is a volunteer opportunity that requires no commitment beyond a one-Sunday-at-a-time response. Volunteer drivers use the emailed link to access the Sign-Up Genius page; sign up, and use the information there to contact the rider directly to make arrangements for that Sunday.

Northwest Repertory Singers Concerts

Cantor Kyle invites you to the spring concerts of his community choir, Northwest Repertory Singers (NWRS) as they present “To Life! To Love!” on May 4 at 7:30 PM and May 5 at 3 PM at Christ Episcopal Church in Tacoma. As artistic director and conductor of the ensemble, Kyle has curated an inspiring program designed to celebrate the beauty of the human spirit and the ways we experience love.

The centerpiece of the concert is the first collection of Liebeslieder waltzes by Johannes Brahms, a composer of the late Romantic era, for singers and piano duo. Other music includes “Set Me As a Seal” by René Clausen (formerly of Concordia College, Moorhead), “This Little Light of Mine” by Moses Hogan, and diverse pieces based on poetry by Shakespeare and others. You’ll find the link to tickets at www.nwrs.org. When checking out, QALC members can use the code “kyle50” (without quotes) for 50% off!

New in Our Library

Pastor Dan has written a chapter in a new book, based on a sermon he gave at Queen Anne Lutheran on the intersection of quantum physics and the Trinity. A copy of Preaching the Uncontrolling Love of God is displayed in the church library along with copies of his chapter.

QA Book Club Plans on 4/29

The quarterly meeting of the book club will be held this month on Monday, April 29. We will be doing something a little different this month by holding our gathering at the Hotel Sorrento Fireside Room. The Hotel holds silent reading events twice a month in the Fireside Room. However, since our goal is to discuss our reading recommendations, that didn’t sound like a feasible option. So, we modified the event to suit our needs. If you would like to carpool, meet at the church at 5:00. Otherwise, we will meet you at the Hotel Sorrento Fireside Room at 5:30. There is valet parking at the Hotel and offsite parking around the Hotel. The Hotel is located at 900 Madison St. (Just an FYI, the official Hotel Sorrento's Silent Reading gatherings take place on the 1st and 3rd Wednesdays of the month, with reservations required.)

Free Tax Help at AARP Tax-Aide Locations

This popular program operated here at QALC when its locations closed during the pandemic, but has now moved back to library locations. A flyer with details for ten locations is posted on our narthex bulletin board, or search online for "AARP Foundation Tax-Aide Site Locator" to find a location near you.

SOCIAL ACTION TEAM

Sponsored by UW Lutherans & University Lutheran Church

UW FOOD PANTRY FOOD DRIVE

During the month of April, we will be collecting food items for the UW Food Pantry. This food resource is available to all UW students, staff & faculty.

WHAT IS MOST NEEDED?

Canned vegetables or fruit • can openers • stocks, broths of all kinds • food for halal, kosher, gluten-free, vegan, or vegetarian diets • canned tomatoes • pasta sauce • mac'n'cheese boxes • cooking oils • soup • oatmeal and granola • boxed or canned milk; non-dairy milks • feminine hygiene products • baby food • diapers (size 4-5 & pull-ups) • bar soap, TP, paper towels

BRING ITEMS TO CHURCH BY APRIL 30

We have also committed to providing dinners for 40 youth at New Horizons Ministries on the 5th Fridays of the year. Upcoming dates are May 31, August 30 and November 29. There is a need for helpers to provide and deliver the full meal on May 31, and to provide sides (a healthy bread/roll, dessert and possibly a side veggie (or fresh fruit)) for the August and November dinners. Let Jim Margard know if you can help out!

We have not volunteered to do the actual serving (unless someone is interested) because they serve late on Friday—9:00 PM. If anyone specifically wants to serve meals to their youth, let Jim know and we can make it happen, preparing and serving simple healthy breakfasts on dates that work for you.

—Jim Margard

LWR 2024 Spring Ingathering Kit Supply Needs:

We need 30 more bath towels for our LWR Personal Care Kits. LWR specifications are "ONE light-weight bath-size towel (between 20" x 40" and 52" x 27"), dark colors recommended" Many of the kits go to people in refugee camps or places without washers (or dryers) so darker colors are preferred. Also, "light-weight" is important because most recipients will air dry their bath towels outside, in sometimes-humid locations. The heavy, plush bath-towels sold in the U.S. are not what is needed in places without washers and dryers.

Target has dark gray bath-towels (52" x 26") for $3.00 under the brand "Room Essentials." If you get them delivered, order 12 and shipping is free. However, you can only order 10 dark gray; I fill in with light gray.

Amazon has "spa towels" that are 20" x 40", 100% cotton, but cost $3.80-$4.

Carol Ann has found 30" x 52" bath towels at Big Lots. Price is $4, but she noted that if you shop at Big Lots often, you may have discounts that bring the towels down below $3.

We also need fifty 4-oz. (NOT 3.5 or 3.0.oz.) bars of Ivory Soap. They cost from 75 cents to $1 per bar, in packs of 4 or 10, usually. The kits need to include at least 8 oz, so three 3 oz bars would be needed if we packed the smaller ones.

The other Personal Care Kit items are purchased in bulk, so if you want to contribute funds to offset those costs, please write a check to "QALC Women—LWR kits" for the Sunday offering (or specify "QALC Women—LWR Kits" if you use PayPal).

LWR School Kits—we try to purchase items in July–September, when Fred Meyer, Walmart, etc. have "back to school specials." We should have enough School Kit supplies for this spring 2024.

FORUMS IN APRIL

GOING GREEN: IS IT TOO LATE?

A four-part Forum series

April 7: Genesis and Ecological Consciousness

Dr. Beatrice Lawrence

The book of Genesis, especially chapters 1 and 2, reveals a great deal about biblical perspectives on cosmogony, ecology, and human interaction with the natural environment. The flood narrative contributes to the biblical views on our role in environmental phenomena, where we have power, where we have responsibility, and where we can fail. In this session, we will explore these texts to gain a better understanding of the biblical approach to many of the climate crises facing us today.

Beatrice Lawrence is Associate Professor of Hebrew Bible at Seattle University, where she also teaches courses in Jewish Studies. Though her research interests are diverse (many centered on the history of Jewish biblical interpretation), she is currently working on projects surrounding mental illness and the Hebrew Bible. She lives in Seattle with her two daughters and rescue pup.

April 14: Update on the Earth

Dr. Kristie Ebi

Dr. Kristie Ebi, UW Professor of Public Health and author of the Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change latest report, returns to give us an "update on the Earth." Has any progress been made against the climate crisis, and what can we be doing individually and collectively to play our part in reversing this terrifying trend?

Dr. Kristie L. Ebi is a professor of global health and environmental and occupational health sciences at the University of Washington and has been conducting research and practice on the health risks of climate change for over twenty years. Her research focuses on the impacts of and adaptation to climate variability. She focuses on understanding sources of vulnerability, estimating current and future health risks of climate change, and designing adaptation policies to reduce the risks of climate change in multi-stressor environments. She has supported countries in Central America, Europe, Africa, Asia, and the Pacific in assessing their vulnerability in collaboration with WHO, UNDP, USAID, and others. Dr. Ebi's scientific training includes an M.S. in toxicology and a Ph.D. and a Master of Public Health in epidemiology. She has edited four books on aspects of climate change and has more than 180 publications.

April 21: The Effects of Climate Change on Marine Biology

Magdalena Phillips

QALC member Magdalena Phillips' recent studies at Duke University created a concern for the consequences of warming sea water on marine ecology. She will share some of her findings (and warnings) with us.

April 28: Climate Change: What Can We Do About It?

Earth Ministry/Washington Interfaith Power and Light

Feeling cynical or hopeless? This forum, led by Keah Callucci, a representative of Earth Ministry/Washington Interfaith Power and Light, explores practical ways we can do something about climate change individually and as a congregation.

April 28 (@IPM): Climate Change: Solutions Faith Communities Can Offer

Dr. Heidi Roop

Dr. Roop will present a public forum based on the ideas in her Climate Action Handbook. A free copy will be awarded to one lucky audience member.

Dr. Heidi Roop is the Director of the University of Minnesota Climate Adaptation Partnership and an Assistant Professor of Climate Science and Extension Specialist at the University of Minnesota. Her research and Extension programs combine cutting-edge climate science and effective science communication to increase the use and integration of climate change information in decision-making at a range of scales—from city and state to national and international levels. She is an affiliate assistant professor in the School of Public Health at the University of Washington, and serves as an expert advisor to organizations and agencies as they seek to build resilience to climate change.

Ideas for Summer Fellowship • Blessing of the Quilts, April 28 • Tying Quilts with Pastor Kristy's group, Friday, April 19

I read an article this month that encouraged making friends in a variety of age groups. At the Mathes's home for Easter there was someone in their 70's, 60's, 50's, on down the ages—including one three-year-old. There were an amazing variety of interests. If you need help making older/younger friends, come participate in any women's activity.

That leads to a request from one of our older members: Jean McLauchlan, who for many years had us come picnic at her lake home, asked if there was some way we could get together this summer. As many of our oldest members have some mobility issues, places with lots of stairs are out of the question. My (Candy's) solution is to try a summer tea party on the church's breezeway. (So where does "tea" come in? A younger member said, "If we get rid of the cups and saucers we can't have a tea party!") So, I am proposing that some Saturday in July we have a tea party honoring our most senior members. All the women are invited, as are teens and children of all ages and genders. Help will be needed for planning, setting up, cooking, etc. — and locating tea sets, cups and saucers... if I remember rightly I saw a lace tablecloth this past week, too. Watch for a sign-up to help organize this, once we have a summer date.

Summer fellowship: Summer is a time for making new friends! One suggestion has been to meet for beverages monthly in someone's yard on first Wednesdays, or third Thursdays in June, July and August. Anybody want to take this on? If you could host, please talk to anyone on the Women's Committee.

In our Bible Study this month, Tuesday April 16:

Scripture and Nature: Teachers of Faith

Session 4: "Food." —Sara Olsen Smith compares Scripture and food. "Scripture is like food; it nourishes and sustains us."

Our focus verse: "Those who observe the day, observe it for the Lord. Also those who eat, eat for the Lord, since they give thanks to God." [Romans 14:6]. Come journey through the Bible with us. The Evening Bible Study meets the 3rd Tuesday at 7 PM, via Zoom and in person. Talk to Barb Bach for more details.

On Wednesdays, Sewing and Service continues to meet in the Fireside Room at 10 AM. PDQ quilters meet each 2nd Monday (April 8) after 5 PM. Dinner (bring your own) at 6. Come join us as we make quilts for LWR. Blessing of the Quilts and Kits is Sunday, April 28. You may support LWR with monetary gifts as well, as by coming to help tie quilts in the Fireside Room on Friday, April 19 from 10 to 2; All ages and genders are welcome to tie quilts; no sewing skills necessary.

Your Women's Committee,

Barb Bach, Candy Mathes, Pat Sobeck and Sallie Wilson

MEN'S MINISTRY

Men's Group, Spring 2024

Thanks for hosting the Easter Breakfast March 30/31. Particular thanks to Don Thomas for pressure washing the breezeway and NW stairs. They look much better without the wintertime moss and dark stains.

We will assemble LWR kits—Personal Care & School—on Saturday, April 20, from 9 AM-11 AM in the Fellowship Hall. The northwest doors that lead into the Fellowship Hall will be unlocked.

The LWR Spring Ingathering will be at Our Redeemer's Lutheran on May 3/4. If you can spare a couple of hours, we are open 8 AM -2 PM Friday, and 8 AM -11:30 AM Saturday. We can always use a few more people to move boxes from the delivery vehicles to the containers, or to work in the containers.

—Rich Mathes

THANKSGIVINGS

Easter Joy

We welcomed three new members, Ingrid, Judy and Amy, into our fellowship this Easter. Alleluia!

Easter Thank-You's

Cleaning the breezeway sidewalk (and NW stairs)—Don Thomas rented a pressure washer and spent hours removing the winter growth (dark stains, moss, etc). Looks really nice.

Easter setup on March 30—Ellen & Ken Hockman, Don Thomas, Denny Alfson and John Reese set the tables, AFTER they washed down 100+ metal folding chairs. The chairs looked like they had a few years of Covid19 dust on them. Amy Castle created all the table flower arrangements.

Easter Flower Cross: Thanks to all who helped fill the flower cross so well.

Easter Breakfast: The breakfast was great—tasty food, good fellowship; and all the tables were filled! Around 75 people attended, based on the plate count. Thank you all for helping and participating.

On Sunday morning at 8 AM we attempted to turn on all the various ovens for cooking/warming all the dishes. We eventually learned that we need to read equipment instructions better in the future—and have two more kitchen helpers. Thanks to Don Thomas, John and Jenna Reese, and Amy Castle for their help. The Koppelman family (Hanna, Elisabeth, TJ, and Joshua) poured orange juice and coffee, and helped everything run smoother. Aaron Boysen, Magdalena Phillips, and Candy Mathes cleaned the kitchen, with Magdalena running the dishwasher. Several people helped take down the chairs and round tables before the 10:30 service; others set up the two chair groupings for 12-step groups after the 10:30 service. Thanks to all who helped, including any I failed to document.

—Rich Mathes

Easter Egg Hunt: Thank you, Cathi Unseth, for spearheading the revival of this event! Cathi writes: “The Easter Egg Hunt was an immense delight to the 13 children who participated. Our thanks to Chelsey Sagon and Ylliam Umipig for organizing the event! Thanks also to everyone who contributed plastic eggs (we used every one of the 142 eggs!) and candy. Also thank you to our youth, who hid the eggs. “

In fifth grade, I started playing trumpet. This wasn't the instrument that I chose—it was chosen for me because my aunt had an old trumpet and my mom said, "If you want to be in band, you can use this trumpet." But even though I wanted to play the flute, the trumpet was definitely the instrument for me. I loved playing trumpet. I loved the sound, the way to make different notes with just three valves, using different mutes that produced complexity of tone. I loved to polish and clean my trumpet—especially when I received a new silver trumpet in high school. The only thing I didn't like was carrying it to and from school because of the big hill that we lived on.

In high school I was in both band and jazz band. In jazz band we traveled to many competitions—winning the Reno Jazz Festival one year. When I look back on my experience in band, I realize that there are so many things that I continue to apply in my life, and as part of the body of Christ, that go back to being in band.

First, you can't be a band on your own. If you play a solo instrument, that is lovely. But that isn't a band. There needs to be a group to form a band—it can be small or large—but an agreement that you are engaging with one another and playing music with one another leads to forming a band. If you are using music, the same music is important—also the same key and the same beats per measure helps. An agreement on how fast or slow the tempo is important. In short, community is needed for a band.

Second, you can't all play the same instrument. I mean, I love the trumpet—but a band of trumpets is one-dimensional (and can be very loud). I admit that as much as I love brass, you need more than brass to form a band. We have all heard brass quartets—but for a band, you need the saxophone, the piccolo, the clarinet, the drum, and so much more. Diversity is needed in a band.

Third, you can't drown out others. I speak as one who plays trumpet. Trumpets know how to be loud. And if trumpeters are not careful, they will hide the beauty of the other instruments. There is nothing more gorgeous than notes from an oboe coming from seemingly nowhere to fill the air with that wistful, haunting sound. In other words, listen for the woodwinds. A variety of sounds and voices are needed in a band—especially those that are more hidden.

Fourth, harmony doesn't mean the same note. It would be boring if every single instrument played the very same note for every song in a band's repertoire. Our ears are tuned to hear melody, harmony, dissonance, and resolution. In a band, it is imperative that different notes are played—different rhythm patterns are introduced, and a play amongst the instruments happens. Harmony and dissonance are needed in a band.

Dear people of God, these four things are also needed in the church and in the world: Community, diversity, variety of sound and voice, harmony and dissonance. I invite you to think about your worshiping community. How are we all like a band? How can we be more intentional in these four areas?

Our composer and maestro is God—God is directing and leading us—in the music we co-create. May this spring awaken you in the beauty and grace of God. May the community in which you gather bring music in all its fullness.
